6. Undergraduate Committee Proposals:

CHE 433 course topic and title update:

a) Introduce a second process simulator, "Pro-Max" into the 433 course rubric. Pro-Max is used for gas simulations and will compliment ASPEN Plus which is used mainly for chemical (liquid) simulations. Pro-Max vendor will provide the software for a $1 dollar annual fee.

b) Revise CHE 433 course title to; "Process Simulation for Chemical and Biochemical Engineers" more consistent with improving course by teaching multiple process simulators instead of just ASPEN.

c) Add CHE 301 discussion section: UG committee proposes adding a discussion session to CHE 301. Students would benefit from the extra class time where examples, HW problems, quiz/exam solutions could be discussed, leaving more time for theory in the MWF lectures. Discussion session would be non-mandatory like CHE 201, but possibly T/R times.

d) Change CHE 312 pre-requisite: Allow students to take CHE 311 and CHE 312 concurrently. Since 311 and 312 will now be offered both Fall and Spring semesters, students could then take the two Transport Phenomena courses together.
