

CHE 321 Fall 2019 Self-Study Report

Instructor: Vikas Berry

Course Comments / Plans

The course included a new project to produce Maleic-anhydride from benzene where the students had to write a code, and solve a complex set of reactions. A self-study segment was added to the course where students learn about an advanced topic in reaction engineering and prepare a report. Overall, the student comments were very positive.